05-235

Proficiency is not required for any other mode of operation. Therefore it should not be required for Morse code. I can understand why the people that use it do not want to see it disappear. I am intrigued by it myself. I have passed the General written test twice and can't seem to get the code to sink in. As a Technician Class operator I feel like I am loosing out on the best part of Amateur Radio by not being able to use the HF bands.

KC2USA
Rick Whitford